

MacEmergency+

08448 121 999

Privacy Policy

We consider your privacy to be very important and we want to be sure you are aware of and agree to the way in which we might use personal information about you. You hereby agree to the MacEmergency Privacy Policy which is hereby incorporated into this Agreement, in which we detail the ways in which we might utilise personal information coming from you. Please keep in mind when you post any information on our site, including, without limitation, in the interactive sections, or by email or any written format, that the information you post, whether about yourself or others, may be viewed by others. Use good sense and prudence in determining the extent of personal information you wish to make available to others.

This web site contains links to other sites. Please note that MacEmergency is not responsible for the privacy policies or practices of external web sites. This privacy statement applies solely and specifically to information collected by this web site, www.macemergency.co.uk.

We do not send out bulk, unsolicited commercial email, often known as "spam". The only email messages we send contain information that has been specifically requested. If you believe you have received unsolicited email from us, please let us know...

Call us on 08448 121 999 if you have any questions or require further information on privacy.